

THOR AdaptiveRisk Dynamic ETF

Systematic. Live since 2020.

/ THE STRATEGY

An actively managed, adaptive multi-asset portfolio holding roughly 30 positions across equities, commodities, currencies, and fixed income. The fund is sub-advised by Ai Alpha LLC, whose research framework sizes and shifts exposures as market conditions change.

Rather than holding a static mix and rebalancing back to it, the portfolio adapts its asset blend to the regime the data describes. The approach seeks return streams that do not depend on any single asset class staying in favor.

/ WHY IT EXISTS

Most multi-asset products set an allocation and hold it through every environment. This fund exists for allocators who want the mix itself to adapt. It seeks to avoid the big hits and participate in the bulk of uptrends across asset classes, applying disciplined, systematic positioning where a static blend simply waits.

/ THE TRACK RECORD

THOR has run systematic strategies live in separately managed accounts and model portfolios since 2020, through the 2020 crash, the 2022 bear market, and the rotations of 2024 and 2025. The AdaptiveRisk Dynamic ETF, launched in April 2026, is the newest fund from that same shop, pairing THOR's risk-first discipline with Ai Alpha's adaptive multi-asset research.
